

FANTASY MONSTERS PAINT GUIDE

We recommend that these monsters be painted all colors of the rainbow. The dry brush and wash techniques will really make the figures come alive, so be sure to use these techniques with each figure, and let your imagination run wild!

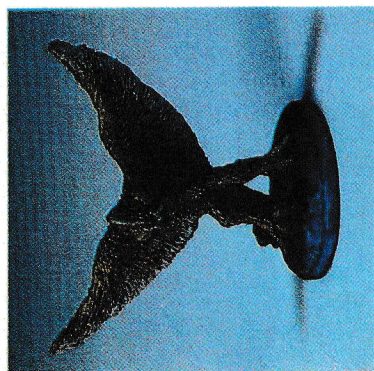

1. Red Horned Mane

Paint the body brown. Dry brush the highlights in green. Paint the eyes green or red. Paint the teeth and claws white. Note: Use a dark green* wash on the figure.

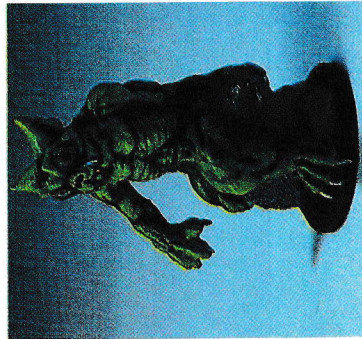

2. False Phoenix

Paint the body and wings brown. Dry brush the body and wings light brown*. Dry brush the edges of the wings white. Mouth red. Teeth and claws white. Black brown wash.

3. Green Gaunt

Paint the body dark green*. Dry brush body green. Eyes red or yellow. Teeth and claws white. Use a black wash.

4. Five Eyed Terror

Paint the body red. Dry brush the highlights pink*. Teeth and claws, white. Use a black wash with special attention around the eyes and nose.

VIII. Protecting the Figures

Once the painted miniature is completely dry, (wait two hours), you may wish to use artists' matte fixative (available at your local art supply store), and following the directions on the label, spray the figures. This will act as a protective coating.

IX. Pewterized Figures

For an antique metal finish rather than a painted finish, use an overall black wash (see VII above), and use the protective spray as described above.

X. Lastly we wish you to have enjoyment and fun. Remember, be proud of your work, it is uniquely yours.
